

"I want to show who I am, that I am so much more than an offender. I am not bad, it was just a stupid moment, a phase in my life where I was lost. I hope that they want to listen to my story." (Offender)

This publication has been funded with the support of the European Commissio

Restorative Justice Week 17-24 November 2013- Inspiring Innovation

Restorative Justice is a process where people affected by an injustice come together to discuss the causes and consequences of the injustice as well as possible solutions to repair the harm inflicted. Vicitims, offenders and possibly the community have an active role in explaining the real impact of the offense and find a way to actually restore justice. The European Forum for Restorative Justice is engaged in spreading restorative practices throughout Europe. It brings together policymakers, researchers and practicioners who work together with the aim of sharing information and developing new inspirational and innovative ways to find justice. Find us on www.euforumrj.org !